

over each point a of the chart lie the normal displacements q in the chart's domain and every orientation r , which together give $x = (r, a, q)$

the two normal directions at a , mass-orthonormal, seen from the side

